

March 2019

Quarterly Commentary

This quarter has given us increased and continued short term volatility. Close to home the 'Brexit Question' remains unanswered with no visible upsides appearing so far. Further afield, Trump continues to be a similarly divisive player and is certainly offering no positivity to our particular sector. Our main concern in the longer term is, as usual, the 'carbon bubble' worry for investments exposed to fossil fuel companies, and our portfolios remain fully divested from this area. We recognise and celebrate the continuing trend of the expansion of our investment universe, more funds are launched each month which fit the criteria for our watch list.

Portfolio Objective

The objective of our cautious portfolio is to generate capital growth of 3% per annum above the Bank of England Base Rate over the long term. Capital Preservation is our primary consideration, as minimising losses will make our growth targets more achievable. We aim to keep a low rate of turnover within the portfolio, prioritising the use of tactical asset allocation as a means of maintaining an appropriate level of risk-taking.

The majority of the portfolio will be invested in Fixed Interest investments with some exposure to domestic and international equities. Alternative investments, such as commercial property funds, will also feature for the purposes of diversification along with a lesser focus on thematic funds such as impact funds.

Ethical objectives

The 'ethical' objectives of the portfolio are to remain fully divested from Fossil Fuel Exploration and Extraction companies. The Cautious Portfolio also invests 10% into thematic funds such as impact funds to give some exposure to companies that offer positive solutions to some of the problems that face society.

Notes on divestment

The Cautious Portfolio is fully divested from Funds that invest in Fossil Fuel Extraction or Exploration Companies. Purposeful.Money have undertaken sufficient research and due diligence to ensure that the portfolio meets this standard. Ongoing due diligence will be conducted on a quarterly basis to ensure that this standard is maintained. Whilst every effort will be taken to ensure that the portfolio is fully divested it is possible that in periods between due diligence checks one of the funds may invest in a Fossil Fuel Extraction or Exploration Company. As soon as Purposeful.Money are aware of such an investment, or when this is highlighted at the quarterly audit, the Fund will be removed from the Portfolio.

The Portfolio is divested from all companies that are directly involved in the exploration or extraction of Fossil Fuels. At this point however there may remain some investment in infrastructure companies such as those that are involved in the transportation of Fossil Fuels.

What is Asset Allocation?

Asset allocation is the practice of diversifying assets between different asset classes. Asset allocation has been recognised as a very important part of the process of building a portfolio. In fact, a number of studies have found that the decision as to how to divide up a portfolio into several classes is more important than the process of choosing the actual stocks, bonds, and funds that are owned.

The asset allocation is determined by the amount of risk someone is prepared to accept and also the amount of time to let the investment grow. To assist us in the process of asset allocation we select the most appropriate 'model' asset allocation from a series of standard models. It is important that the portfolio is monitored and reviewed on an ongoing basis to ensure that it remains in line with this 'model'. For further information please see our portfolio flowchart.

Information on performance

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and any income from them can fall and you may get back less than you invested. If you invest in currencies other than your own, fluctuations in currency value will mean that the value of your investment will move independently of the underlying asset.
